“ It is with great shame that I have only learned of Lonny's passing just this past weekend in February 2012. I am devastated by this news - I don't wish to bring up old 'wounds' but only to express my deep sympathy to his family who I have never met, and pass along how much he meant to us in just the short time we knew him. This is the only way I would know how to express this. Lonny was the first 'friendly face' that welcomed us to Errol and subsequently did such fantastic work at our home there. But it was more than just 'the work' he did, it was the person behind 'the work'. I wish I had the time to get to know him better.

“ I have been trying to skip over these last few weeks and the upcoming day, so hard to keep it together when seeing friends, knowing they are feeling the same way. St Patricks will never be the same, dont even know if we will have the traditional dinner, it was our last meal as a real family, on the upside it was a good one. Miss you so much..###imported-begin##Angie Calder###imported-end##

“ I will always remember the many debates I had with Lonny. He was a thinker, and it was always fun to debate any topic with him just to hear his views. I am so very sorry to hear of his passing. My deepest sympathies go out to his family and loved ones. He was a unique individual: an old soul juxtaposed on a modern time, a person whose light, life and laughter touched everyone he met. I am grateful to have known him, and saddened that his light was extinguished so soon, my deepest condolences.##imported-begin##Annie Boynton (Lizotte)##imported-end##

“ to the family of Alonzo Calder, please accept my condolences. Many wonder at a time of great loss if there is any hope of seeing our dead loved ones again. The Bible teaches that most people who have died will be resurrected. Jesus promised that "those in the memorial tombs will...come out." John 5:28,29 In harmony with God's original purpose for the earth and the people he created will have the opportunity to live on a paradise earth. Luke 23:43 This promised future includes perfect health and everlasting life for obedient mankind. The Bible says that "The righteous themselves will possess the earth and will reside on it forever." Psalm 37:29 I have read these passages often when I lost my sister and father. I hope they bring you a measure of comfort and hope as they did bring to me.##imported-begin##Sheila Stohl##imported-end##

“ Lonnie, how I will miss talking to you and seeing all the new tools that you would bring by and tell me that I had to have one of these.
