

Courtney Lyn Diamond

July 27, 2000 - June 19, 2026

PITTSBURG – Courtney Lyn Diamond, 25, of Pittsburg, died tragically on Friday, June 19, 2026, in Columbia due to injuries sustained in a motor vehicle accident.

She was born on July 27, 2000, in Melrose, Mass., a daughter to Scott and Tara (Bloom) Diamond. She attended school in North Andover, Mass., and was a 2018 graduate of North Andover High School.

For a time after high school, Courtney worked for a paint supply company, learning how to mix paints and deliver customer service. She also worked with her father in the family HVAC business. Upon moving with her family to the north country, she worked with them in the family motel business, and was also working as a server at the 1840 Restaurant in Pittsburg.

Courtney loved snowmobiling, her fast cars, and motorcycling. She was an avid computer gamer, and was the one in the family who could fix just about anything, especially if it was electronic. She loved to cook, especially family holiday dinners, and she loved to watch movies from the 80s, “Breakfast Club” being her favorite. Her favorite TV show was “Family Guy,” and she loved all types of music. Courtney was sweet and generous, and was always willing to lend a hand to help someone.

She leaves behind her parents, Scott and Tara Diamond of Pittsburg; an older sister, Kayla Diamond of Pittsburg; and a nephew, Aaron Hubner.

The family had private services at the Jenkins & Newman Funeral Home in Colebrook.
