

Robert W. Grassetto

January 30, 1953 - June 22, 2022

COLEBROOK – Robert W. Grassetto, 69, of Colebrook, passed away at his home on Wednesday, June 22, 2022, after many months of poor health.

He was born on Jan. 30, 1953, in Cambridge, Mass., a son to the late Orden C. and Wanda (Sleginski) Grassetto. He grew up in Cambridge and the Leominster, Mass., area.

For many years, Bob worked as a foreman for a speaker manufacturer and later for a metal fabricator. He moved north to Colebrook in 1994. He loved to fish and hunt, was a motorcycle enthusiast, and will be remembered by his friends and family for his warped sense of humor and being a quiet man who very much loved being at home.

He is survived by his partner of the last 42 years, Joanne Hill of Colebrook, and her two sons, Shawn and Jeremy Hill of Massachusetts; and his seven step-grandchildren; and his oldest brother, Orden J. Grassetto, Sr., of Tennessee. He is predeceased by a brother, Ronald, and a sister, Marcia.

There are no services scheduled at this time.

Condolences may be offered to the family online by going to www.jenkinsnewman.com.

Arrangements are entrusted to the care of Jenkins & Newman Funeral Home in Colebrook.

Tribute Wall

JE

“ One day I came home from school I think I was around 9 or 10 him and his friend pickles made me and my brother a snack it was this like French bread with jelly and whip cream him and pickles were laughing as my brother and I were eating it we were basically done when we noticed the bread was nice and green with mold that's just the type of guy he was I'm going to miss his slightly deranged sense of humor

Jeremy - June 28, 2022 at 11:34 AM